Girls In Sports

Sports are important for girls to be involved in. They keep us active, strong and show that we can do just as much as boys.

Figure Skating

I, Mellina have been figure skating since I was 9 yrs. old. Not only is it a fun sport, but it has also taught me self-confidence.

Swimming

Emily has been swimming before she even started walking. What she enjoys most about swimming is the first contact with water, propelling herself forward and feeling strong!

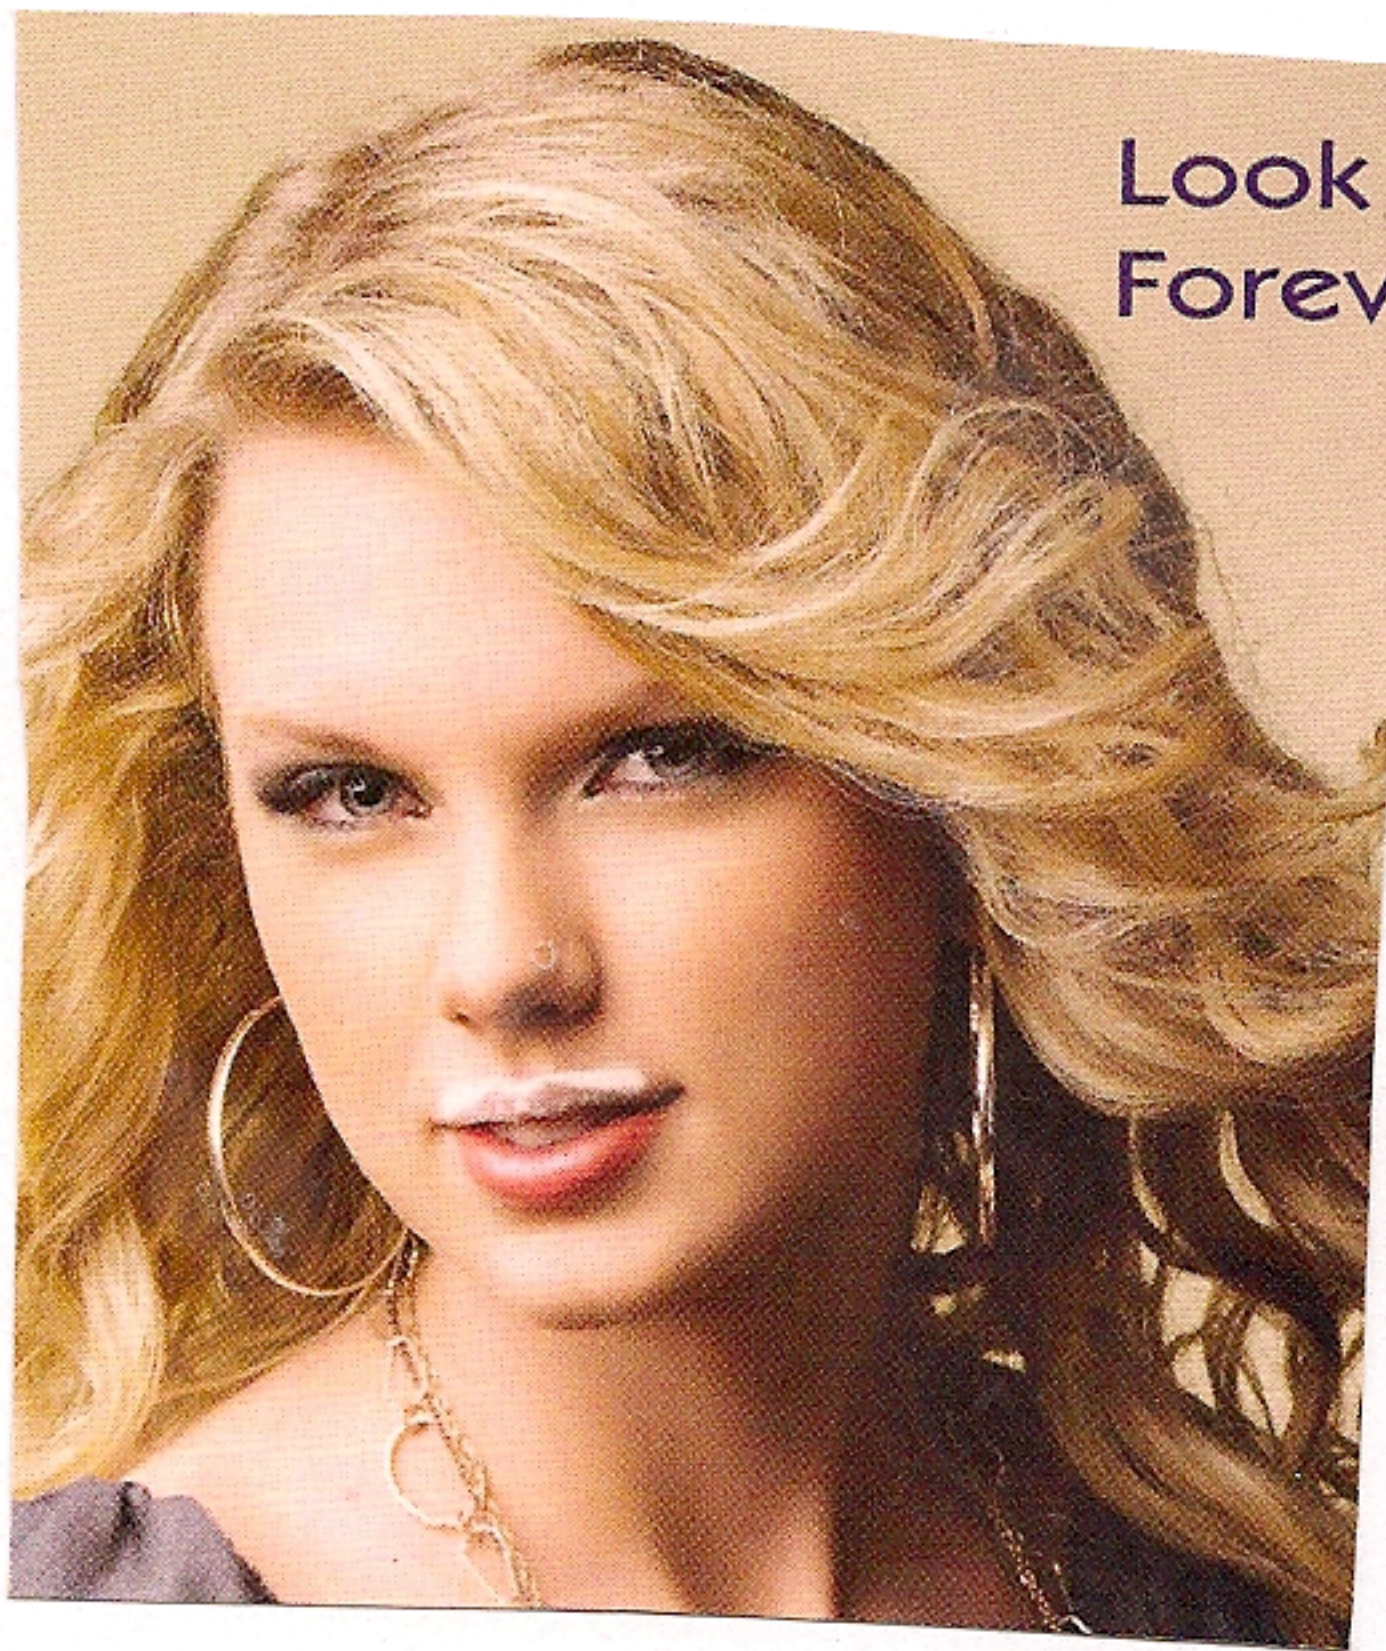

They Play Football!

Touchdown, first lady! MICHELLE OBAMA promoted her youth fitness initiative in New Orleans Sept. 8.

You think ...

You see ...

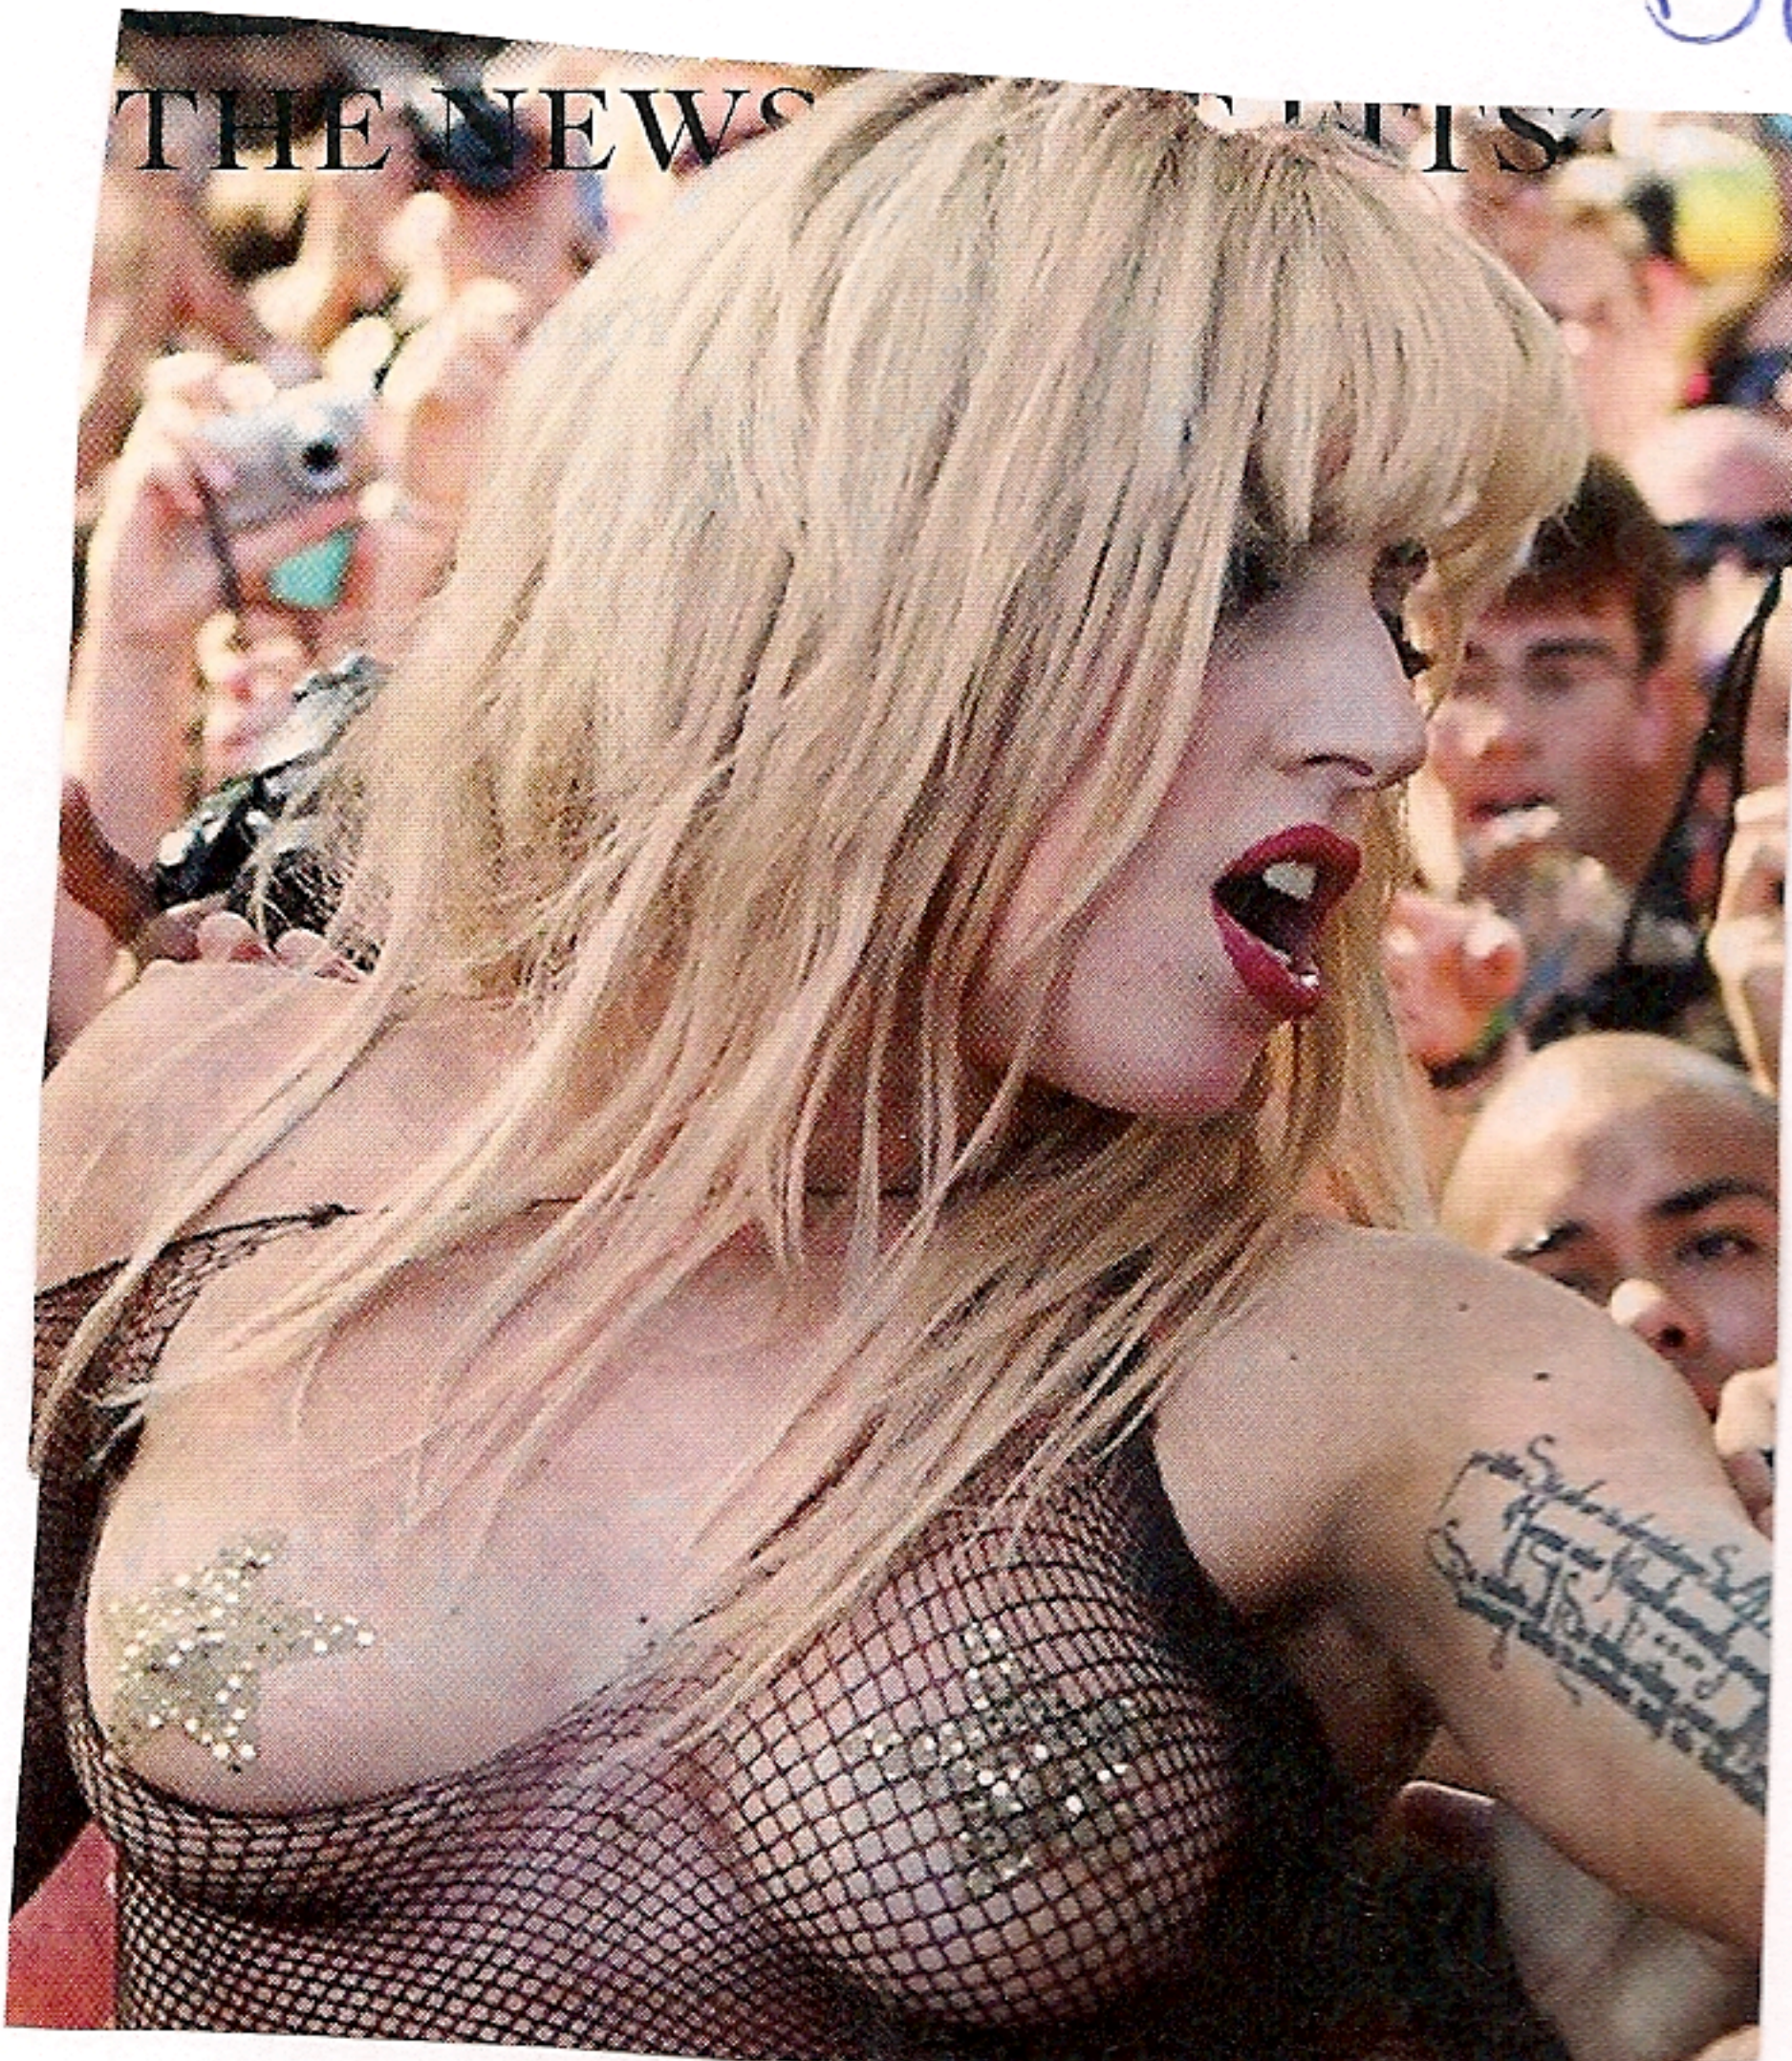

I Am!

Look & feel good.
Forever & always.

I CHOOSE

You think I am nothing
You think I am an object and not a human being.

THE NEWS ...

You see what is negative
You see only my body but,
not my personality.

I am more than what you see
I am a strong girl.
I am a teenage girl and society won't crush my dreams. "I represent SPARK and our group is strong!" - mecca age 15

This is an advertisement for a jacket. They put this beautiful girl who may have so much more to offer than just her beauty to show cleavage that isn't necessary to catch the readers eye. They are making her come off as just a sex object. To me, this says "I couldn't sell the product if it wasn't for my breasts".

Why do the boys always take the active role? Do all boys take karate and guitar lessons? Why can't he take ballet? We shouldn't box ANYONE into specific gender roles!

Why is fashion always sexual?? what does this girl taking a man's pants off have to do with the product being advertised? Being publicly sexual is NOT SEXY!

How come the guys get outfits that are similar to there normal cloths, while the girls can't exhale?

Why does she lean on him, why can't ~~they~~ she sit up herself?
